Oasis Live '25 UK and Ireland tour dates in full: Which band members will be joining Liam Gallagher and Noel Gallagher for Oasis's UK & Ireland reunion tour dates? The band's full touring line-up has yet to be announced, but we'll let you know as soon as it's been firm'd up by the Gallaghers. Who is the support act for Oasis's UK & Ireland reunion tour dates? Oasis will be supported at all UK and Ireland dates by fellow Britpop favourites Cast. The Liverpool band led by singer John Power have seven UK Top 10 singles in their arsenal including Flying (Number 4), Free Me (Number 7) and Live the Dream (Number 7). They released their seventh studio album Love is the Call in 2024. They will also be supported at all UK and Ireland dates by Richard Ashcroft. Another mainstay of the '90s Britpop scene, Richard has released six solo albums and is also known as the frontman of The Verve, whose seminal 1997 album Urban Hymns has spent 162 weeks on the Official Albums Chart. It's home to the era-defining singles Bitter Sweet Symphony and The Drugs Don't Work. Oasis are back - Liam and Noel Gallagher reunited(Image: Simon Emmett)Oasis have today confirmed the full line-up of support acts that will be joining them on the UK and Ireland leg of their huge reunion tour. Liam and Noel Gallagher sent fans into a frenzy after announcing their Oasis comeback which will now span a world tour across 2025.While the support acts have been rumoured for a while, the band has now officially confirmed the guest stars joining them for their huge stadiums and outdoor shows in Cardiff, Manchester, London, Dublin and Edinburgh in the summer.After confirming Wigan's finest Richard Ashcroft last week, Oasis have now added their opening act for the shows. And it will be Liverpool indie legends Cast famed for hits like Finetime and Alright.READ MORE: This corner of Greater Manchester is turning posh - and not everyone is happy about itIn a statement released today, the band say, "The line-up is now completed with the news that Cast will open at all nineteen instantly sold-out shows." It suggests that no further names will now be added to the bill.Oasis has faced criticism from some quarters for not including up-and-coming bands to the line-up. But Liam Gallagher hit back at those critics last week saying on his X account: "To all the folk who are crying about us not showing love to the young bands and not letting them support there's LEVELS to this game and I'm afraid 99 p cent of ya are way off."The announcement of Cast today comes with further details on the long connection between the two north west bands. Cast firmly have the Oasis seal-of-approval with Noel Gallagher previously describing frontman John Power as being : 'as cosmic as the day is long.'Liam is also a big fan and chose Cast to join his 'Definitely Maybe' arena tour this past summer. The statement added: "You only need to scratch the surface of Cast's vast discography to see why the Gallaghers are such fans.'Early, high-energy hits like 'Alright' and 'Finetime' are sure to fire up audiences from the outset, while anthemic slowburners such as 'Sandstorm' and 'Walkaway' are built for the biggest of stages. What's more, their recent album 'Love Is The Call' more than matches the standard of their original era with highlights such as the title track, 'Tomorrow Call My Name' and 'Faraway.' "Cast's John Power performing at Co-Op Live ahead of Liam Gallagher in June 2024(Image: Gary Oakley/Manchester Evening News)Cast frontman John Power said he was delighted to join Oasis on the upcoming tour. He said: "I'm blown away at the reunion. Oasis are the voice of a generation and the songs that they wrote and sung were and still are the soundtrack to many people's dreams. They are the people's band."He added: "I've known Noel and Liam all through the years, we go way back. It's been some ride, some journey, I've felt and known their music personally, as a fan. It inspired me as songwriter, it blew the whole scene open like nothing before and it reached way beyond the stratosphere. Everything changed. We were all part of that and we will all be part of this. I'm especially looking forward to revisiting my family's Irish roots when the tour hits Dublin. Let the opening chords shimmer and shine next July."The adventures between Oasis and Cast have always been innately intertwined. Even before forming the band, Liam had been a huge fan of John's previous group The La's and rated them as equal to The Stone Roses.Cast's John Power(Image: Colin Lane/Liverpool Echo)John and the Gallaghers were soon acquaintances, and their shared trail caught fire as 'Supersonic' sent Oasis stratospheric. It was around this time that Oasis offered Cast a support slot after admiring John's demos which became their debut album 'All Change'.That show was where Cast were spotted and then promptly signed by Polydor. Cast went on to play at numerous legendary Oasis gig highlights, from Paris to Irving Beach, Loch Lomond to Knebworth.The statement added: "Now that Oasis have reformed, it feels like Cast are the perfect choice to play such a momentous occasion."Still featuring fellow founder members Liam 'Skin' Tyson (guitar) and Keith O'Neill (drums), Cast were one of the biggest bands of their era with three Top 10 albums which all reached Platinum or Silver certification, as well as seven Top 10 singles. This year's 'Love Is The Call' achieved their strongest chart positions (#22 Official Albums, #3 Independent Albums, #5 Album Sales) and critical acclaim in 25 years, with MOJO praising its 'Brit Invasion melodies, thrusting rockably guitars, and lyrics that find hope in seaport-based fantasy and the power of connection."Oasis's UK and Ireland shows - their only European shows in 2025 - are listed below.The brothers are back(Image: Simon Emmett)JULY 20254th - Cardiff, Principality Stadium (SOLD OUT)5th - Cardiff, Principality Stadium (SOLD OUT)11th - Manchester, Heaton Park (SOLD OUT)12th - Manchester, Heaton Park (SOLD OUT)16th - Manchester, Heaton Park (SOLD OUT)19th - Manchester, Heaton Park (SOLD OUT)20th - Manchester, Heaton Park (SOLD OUT)25th - London, Wembley Stadium (SOLD OUT)26th - London, Wembley Stadium (SOLD OUT)30th - London, Wembley Stadium (SOLD OUT)1st - London, Wembley Stadium (SOLD OUT)2nd - London, Wembley Stadium (SOLD OUT)3rd - London, Wembley Stadium (SOLD OUT)9th - Edinburgh, Scottish Gas Murrayfield Stadium (SOLD OUT)10th - Edinburgh, Scottish Gas Murrayfield Stadium (SOLD OUT)12th - Edinburgh, Scottish Gas Murrayfield Stadium (SOLD OUT)16th - Dublin, Croke Park (SOLD OUT)17th - Dublin, Croke Park (SOLD OUT)SEPTEMBER 202527th - London, Wembley Stadium (SOLD OUT)28th - London, Wembley Stadium (SOLD OUT)29th - London, Wembley Stadium (SOLD OUT)This article contains affiliate links, we will receive a commission on any sales we generate from it. Oasis have undoubtedly been one of the single biggest influences on my life. They influence the way I walk, talk, dress, the other bands I listen to, the mates I hang around with and the misspent nights/weekends I've lost! Seeing Oasis live was always an event (usually a big stadium or arena show due to their popularity). Its something you'd look forward to for weeks/months well basically since you first managed to secure your ticket. The gigs themselves, I honestly find it hard to put into words a description that does this justice. From the moment they stepped on stage how could anyone fail to be transfixed by the greatest frontman in the world ever Liam Gallagher. The sheer euphoria of thousands of people singing every word of various anthems back at the band with as much passion, if not more as you'd find most of the same audience singing to their football teams on a Saturday afternoon. Oasis were us and we were Oasis, a working class band with a laddish working class following. That may be sneered at by sections of the media (the term 'lad-rock' was banded about) but when your standing in a field/stadium/arena with thousands of like minded individuals watching Oasis the world pretty much starts and ends there.
