City of Danbury is a locality in Fairfield County, Connecticut. Unlike many other areas where property taxes are collected on a county level, City of Danbury has its own tax assessor's office. If your property is located in a different Fairfield County locality, see that page for tax assessor's information. What can the City of Danbury Assessor's Office do for me? The City of Danbury Tax Assessor's Office oversees the appraisal and assessment of properties as well as the billing and collection of property taxes for all taxable real estate located in City of Danbury. Contact the assessor's office if you need help with paying your property taxes, applying for a homestead exemption or other tax exemption, reporting upgrades to your home, appealing your property tax assessment, or verifying your property records. Submitting a City of Danbury property tax appeal If you believe that your house has been unfairly overappraised (i.e. appraised at a value higher than the true market value of the property), you can attempt to get your home re-appraised at a lower value by contacting the Assessor's Office to submit a property tax appeal. You will have to submit a form describing your property and sufficient proof that it is overassessed, including valuations of similar homes nearby as evidence. If your appeal is accepted, your home assessment (and property taxes) will be lowered as a result. If you would like to appeal your property, call the City of Danbury Assessor's Office at (203) 797 4556 and ask for a property tax appeal form. Keep in mind that property tax appeals are generally only accepted in a 1-3 month window each year. For more information and example appeals, see how to appeal your property taxes. Useful City of Danbury Facts: The median home value in City of Danbury is between $473,508.00 and $481,892.00. Property tax rates are based on property values. You can try contacting the Fairfield County local government directly with any issues the Assessor's Office can't solve. In many counties, certain property records such as deeds are kept in the county courthouse or county archives instead of at the tax assessors' office. The county seat for Fairfield County is located in the in Bridgeport, which is located at 1061 Main Street.
