

I'm not a robot

My hero academia hatsume

DeviationUpload your creations for people to see, favourite, and share.DreamUpTurn your dreams into realityGenerate your own AI work.Status UpdateTell the community what’s on your mind. JournalShare your thoughts, experiences, and stories behind the art.LiteratureUpload stories, poems, character descriptions & more. SubscriptionFund your creativity by creating subscription tiers. Overview Gallery Synopsis Relationships We may not be fighters... but just like how you guys are trying every trick in the book to protect as many as possible... we’re... tackling it in our own way. Inventing stuff... is how the support course does heroics.MeI Hatsume to Izuku Midoriya and Tenya Iida in "The Story of How We All Became Heroes, Part 2" Female Student (Formerly)Support item developer U.A. High School (Formerly)Lightly Labs (Founder)[2] Mei Hatsume (梅 (はつ) 目 (め) 明 (めい) , Hatsume Mei?) was a student of U.A. High School's Department of Support in Class 1-H.[3] Eight years after the Final War, Mei has graduated from U.A. High School and has become the founder of Lightly Labs, a widely renowned manufacturing company of Hero support items.[2] Appearance Mei is a reasonably short girl with quite a mature build. She has salmon pink hair, which is generally shoulder-length, although it does vary, which is styled into thick dreadlocks and side-swept to her right. Her eyes are wide and sloped upwards with some notably long upper eyelashes, their irises green-yellow with a cross in the center, making them look somewhat like scope lenses. In her first appearance, she wears the regular U.A. gym uniform (a dark blue tracksuit decorated with the letters "U" and "A"), but she also adds some of her own gadgets onto it, including red and gold steampunk goggles, a utility belt to hold the various tools she carries around, oversized speed-assisting boots, and what could possibly be a jet pack strung over her shoulders. She's later seen wearing a plain black tank top with workshop coveralls tied casually around her waist, with the same goggles on her head. Following the Paranormal Liberation War, Mei has donned a new set of goggles with longer, scope-like lenses. She also now has her hair tied back into a ponytail.[5] Eight years after the Final War, Mei has grown taller and more mature, with her hair having grown longer at the front, but still tied into a ponytail at the back. She is seen wearing an advanced set of goggles, while adorning her usual designer gloves and a new strapped tank top.[2] Gallery Mei's initial workshop appearance. Personality Mei's shameless and assertive personality. Mei is a smart, off-setting, and assertive girl, often making those around her uncomfortable. She loves creating gadgets, which she refers to as her "super cute babies". Mei has a habit of "going straight to the point"[6] and is very shameless and opportunistic when it comes to advertising her inventions. While talking to people, she has a habit of getting awkwardly close to them, which usually causes them to back away from her but she still moves up to them. She can also be manipulative, as she tricked Tenya Iida into using her support equipment to promote her inventions. Mei believes that while inventors like her may not be fighters, they still help the field of heroics through their inventions.[7] Mei shows no fear when it comes to failing, seeing it as an opportunity to learn and do better next time, which is why she does not mind when her inventions fail. Mei can be seen as self-centered due to putting her love of inventions and gadgets above others, but this selfishness is not a negative as it is out of motivation to improve herself. She does seem to be a little bit absent-minded as she is easily distracted and can sometimes be completely unaware of her surroundings, as shown by her inability to sense one of her inventions catch on fire as she was speaking with Izuku Midoriya. Furthermore, she seems inept at reading body language and social cues, apparently being oblivious to Izuku's discomfort with her close proximity to him on several occasions. Abilities Overall Abilities: Outside of her intellect, Mei mostly acts as a support rather than facing battles directly. However, she proves to be a capable combatant as seen in her match against Tenya, where it lasted for ten minutes with Tenya unable to do anything to her despite his speed advantage and only winning when she forfeited. Expert Inventor: Mei is very smart and innovative, creating many different pieces of equipment on her own that can help her in many situations. She is even able to create new inventions in a matter of seconds with only one hand, even while she is dividing her attention to something else.[7] She relies mostly on her inventions to traverse obstacles and tasks. Power Loader acknowledges Mei's talent in the field of inventing, calling her one of a kind.[8] He even commissioned her to help him make upgrades to the U.A. Barrier.[7] Skilled Manipulator: Mei is good at manipulating people, as seen when she tricked Tenya into modeling her inventions during the final rounds of the Sports Festival Tournament. She took advantage of his honest and trusting nature by offering him some of her equipment, claiming that it would make their fight a fair one. Business Savvy: Mei has a good mind for business. She took full advantage of the Sports Festival, as the stands were full of scouts from major Hero Support Equipment Companies. She teamed up with Izuku during the Cavalry Battle, knowing that people would pay attention to him, since he finished first in the previous competition. She also spent the entirety of her match against Tenya (a full 10 minutes) demonstrating and explaining her inventions to the crowd. Quirk Zoom (ズーム, Zūmu?): Mei's Quirk allows her to make her vision zoom in on whatever is in her line of sight. If she really focuses, Mei can see things as far as five kilometers.[9] Stats Power 1/5 E Speed 1/5 E Technique 3/5 C Cooperativeness 2/5 D Mei's stats, according to the Ultra Archive Book Power 1/6 E Speed 1/6 E Technique 4/6 B Wits 5/6 A Inventive Urge 6/6 S+ Mei's stats, according to the Ultra Analysis Book Equipment Goggles: A pair of steampunk-looking goggles. It is unknown if they have any practical applications aside from those of regular goggles. Hydraulic Bracers: A support item that detects an incoming enemy and extends a telescopic metal pole to push the wearer out of the way. Capture Gun: A pistol that fires capture nets. It can be shot five times before one needs to reload it. Electromagnetic Soles: A pair of boots that improve the wearer's footwork. Wire Arrow (ワイヤーアロー, Waiyā Arou?): This device is a combination of a wire with an arrow-like grappling hook attached to the end, which can be used to reach distant surfaces.[10] Hover Soles (ホバーソール, Hobā Sōru?): Two big metallic boots that have turbines implanted inside them, which allows the wearer to hover above the ground.[10] Inventions Mei and her inventions. Mei is a prolific inventor, who is always creating new mechanisms that can be used by others. Many of her inventions simply don't work properly or are even dangerous, but others are really useful support items. Air Force Gloves: Special gloves that Mei created specifically for Izuku, which allow him to more efficiently create powerful air blasts with One For All while amiting the damage done. Auto Balancers: A support item that takes the form of leg braces and a backpack. The function of this device is to prevent the wearer from falling, unless they intend to. Used by Tenya during their battle at the U.A. Sports Festival. High Density Weights (超圧縮おもい, Chō Asshuku Omoi?): A creation of Mei's, this device inhibits and drains speed and stamina of a user. This allows the user to fight on the same level as a weaker, less experienced opponent. Used by teachers during the First Term Final Exam to give students an advantage.[11] Iron Soles (アイアンソール, Aiansōru?): Support items she invented for Izuku. They serve both to enhance his kicks and to deal with the recoil, lessening the force that rebounds on him. Jet Pack: A creation of Mei's, this device is a metal backpack with two turbines on the bottom part of the backpack that will activate when the wearer presses the activation switch. Used by Izuku during the Cavalry Battle.[6] Sharpshooting Gear: Support items she created with Power Loader for Denki Kaminari. Allows Denki to use his electricity more efficiently without endangering his allies. Power Suit: A mechanical suit that senses muscle contraction and aids in movement. Mei's forty-ninth invention.[8] Electric Booster: A speed booster that generates minimum heat. Mei's thirty-sixth invention.[8] Mei's thirty-sixth invention.[8] My Adorable Baby: A robot suit with iron soles. Unintentionally explosive. Mei's two hundred second invention. Battles & Events Chapter Appearances Anime Appearances Trivia Mei's name comes "invention" (発明, hatsumei?) and "eyes" (目, me?), but the second and third kanji have switched positions. Mei was originally going to be a male.[12] In the first Popularity Poll, Mei ranked twentieth, which ties her with Toru Hagakure. Mei's favorite food is chocolate. Mei likes the steampunk style, as evidenced by her usual gadgetry. Mei ranked in the top sixteen of the U.A. Sports Festival First-Year Stage. Mei's Power Suit could be a reference to the prototype battle suit developed by Justin Hammer, shown near the beginning of the movie Iron Man 2. This suit accidentally twisted the torso section through one hundred eighty degrees, possibly killing the test pilot (although Hammer claims he was injured but recovered). Luckily for Izuku, Mei disabled her suit before it twisted too far. Mei's Japanese voice actress, Shiori Sakurai, also voices Moko Tamashi. Quotes (To Power Loader) "Heh heh heh... Failure is the mother of invention. Power Loader-sensei. Thomas Edison once said that. Just cuz a creation doesn't work as intended doesn't mean the effort is wasted..."[13] (To Tenya about using his arms instead of his legs) "If you want to cool your legs, all you have to do is just run with your arms!"[14] References Share — copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format for any purpose, even commercially. Adapt — remix, transform, and build upon the material for any purpose, even commercially. The licensor cannot revoke these freedoms as long as you follow the license terms. Attribution — You must give appropriate credit , provide a link to the license, and indicate if changes were made . You may do so in any reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests the licensor endorses you or your use. ShareAlike — If you remix, transform, or build upon the material, you must distribute your contributions under the same license as the original. No additional restrictions — You may not apply legal terms or technological measures that legally restrict others from doing anything the license permits. You do not have to comply with the license for elements of the material in the public domain or where your use is permitted by an applicable exception or limitation . No warranties are given. The license may not give you all of the permissions necessary for your intended use. For example, other rights such as publicity, privacy, or moral rights may limit how you use the material. Skip to content Student at U.A. High School's Department of Support Class H-1 Zoom (to help the user's vision zoom in on whatever is in their line of sight.)Genius-level intelligenceInventing prowessMechanical knowledge Building, testing and tinkering with new Support Gear. Get scouted by a support company and help hero course students with their gear. (sometimes failed, often succeeding) Izuku MidoriyaOchaco UrarakaFumikage TokoyamiTenya Iida “ A good designer can meet all the reckless, ignorant, and ill-advised demands of the client.” ~ Mei Hatsume “ If you’re wanting to cool down your legs, then why don’t you just run with your arms instead? ” ~ Mei Hatsume “ Bathing just seems like a waste of time! ” ~ Mei Hatsume Mei Hatsume is a supporting character in the manga/anime series My Hero Academia. She is a student from Class H-1 of the U.A. High School's Department of Support, and is a student of Power Loader. She is voiced by Azu Sakura in the Japanese version of the anime, and by Alexis Tipton in the English version. Appearance[] Mei is a short girl with a rather mature physique. She has salmon pink hair that is styled into dreadlocks, often reaching to her shoulders. Mei also has a pair of yellow eyes with cross-sign irises, making her eyes resemble a pair of scope lenses. Personality[] Mei is very talented with her love for inventing and building up new ideas of creating any type of Support Gear she could make. She often has a habit of calling her inventions by the word "babies". Despite her intelligence and gifts, Mei can often be obsessive with her inventing and sometimes goes too far, which often resulted in Power Loader scolding her for her recklessness (it doesn't help that she is easily distracted, can sometimes be completely unaware of her surroundings, seems inept at reading body language and social cues, and apparently being oblivious to Izuku's discomfort). She can also be mischievous when it comes to testing her inventions on others, like putting white-metal armor on Izuku and placing arm bracers on Tenya, as well as the time when she used the latter as an advertisement of getting her name out to support companies during the Sports Festival. She is also quite manipulative and opportunistic when it comes to advertising her inventions, as she sees every opportunity to improve even if her inventions backfired. However, Mei is very determined, enthusiastic and high-spirited when it comes to helping Pro Heroes in need of Support Gear in the future. Quotes[] " Mei: Oh, sorry about the sudden explosion. It's been a while, huh? Class 1-A, right? Uhh... Yeah, I forgot all your names already.Izuku: Uh... Izuku... Midoriya, haha... Tenya: I'm Tenya Iida! The man you tricked into being a walking advertisement during the Sports Festival!Mei: Never heard of ya! Well, I'm busy developing new babies [gadgets] so byyyee! „ ~ Mei being dismissive during Izuku, Ochaco, and Tenya's confrontation of her before the provisional hero licensing exam MeiHatsumeSorryAboutTheSuddenExplosion.mp3 Trivia[] She was originally going to be male. Her favorite food is chocolate. She has shown to have an affinity for steampunk, evident by the style of her gadgets. External Links[] Mei Hatsume on the My Hero Academia Wiki [] Overview Gallery Synopsis Relationships We may not be fighters... but just like how you guys are trying every trick in the book to protect as many as possible... we’re... tackling it in our own way. Inventing stuff... is how the support course does heroics.MeI Hatsume to Izuku Midoriya and Tenya Iida in "The Story of How We All Became Heroes, Part 2" Female Student (Formerly)Support item developer U.A. High School (Formerly)Lightly Labs (Founder)[2] Mei Hatsume (梅 (はつ) 目 (め) 明 (めい) , Hatsume Mei?) was a student of U.A. High School's Department of Support in Class 1-H.[3] Eight years after the Final War, Mei has graduated from U.A. High School and has become the founder of Lightly Labs, a widely renowned manufacturing company of Hero support items.[2] Appearance Mei is a reasonably short girl with quite a mature build. She has salmon pink hair, which is generally shoulder-length, although it does vary, which is styled into thick dreadlocks and side-swept to her right. Her eyes are wide and sloped upwards with some notably long upper eyelashes, their irises green-yellow with a cross in the center, making them look somewhat like scope lenses. In her first appearance, she wears the regular U.A. gym uniform (a dark blue tracksuit decorated with the letters "U" and "A"), but she also adds some of her own gadgets onto it, including red and gold steampunk goggles, a utility belt to hold the various tools she carries around, oversized speed-assisting boots, and what could possibly be a jet pack strung over her shoulders. She's later seen wearing a plain black tank top with workshop coveralls tied casually around her waist, with the same goggles on her head. Following the Paranormal Liberation War, Mei has donned a new set of goggles with longer, scope-like lenses. She also now has her hair tied back into a ponytail.[5] Eight years after the Final War, Mei has grown taller and more mature, with her hair having grown longer at the front, but still tied into a ponytail at the back. She is seen wearing an advanced set of goggles, while adorning her usual designer gloves and a new strapped tank top.[2] Gallery Mei's initial workshop appearance. Personality Mei's shameless and assertive personality. Mei is a smart, off-setting, and assertive girl, often making those around her uncomfortable. She loves creating gadgets, which she refers to as her "super cute babies". Mei has a habit of "going straight to the point"[6] and is very shameless and opportunistic when it comes to advertising her inventions. While talking to people, she has a habit of getting awkwardly close to them, which usually causes them to back away from her but she still moves up to them. She can also be manipulative, as she tricked Tenya Iida into using her support equipment to promote her inventions. Mei believes that while inventors like her may not be fighters, they still help the field of heroics through their inventions.[7] Mei shows no fear when it comes to failing, seeing it as an opportunity to learn and do better next time, which is why she does not mind when her inventions fail. Mei can be seen as self-centered due to putting her love of inventions and gadgets above others, but this selfishness is not a negative as it is out of motivation to improve herself. She does seem to be a little bit absent-minded as she is easily distracted and can sometimes be completely unaware of her surroundings, as shown by her inability to sense one of her inventions catch on fire as she was speaking with Izuku Midoriya. Furthermore, she seems inept at reading body language and social cues, apparently being oblivious to Izuku's discomfort with her close proximity to him on several occasions. Abilities Overall Abilities: Outside of her intellect, Mei mostly acts as a support rather than facing battles directly. However, she proves to be a capable combatant as seen in her match against Tenya, where it lasted for ten minutes with Tenya unable to do anything to her despite his speed advantage and only winning when she forfeited. Expert Inventor: Mei is very smart and innovative, creating many different pieces of equipment on her own that can help her in many situations. She is even able to create new inventions in a matter of seconds with only one hand, even while she is dividing her attention to something else.[7] She relies mostly on her inventions to traverse obstacles and tasks. Power Loader acknowledges Mei's talent in the field of inventing, calling her one of a kind.[8] He even commissioned her to help him make upgrades to the U.A. Barrier.[7] Skilled Manipulator: Mei is good at manipulating people, as seen when she tricked Tenya into modeling her inventions during the final rounds of the Sports Festival Tournament. She took advantage of his honest and trusting nature by offering him some of her equipment, claiming that it would make their fight a fair one. Business Savvy: Mei has a good mind for business. She took full advantage of the Sports Festival, as the stands were full of scouts from major Hero Support Equipment Companies. She teamed up with Izuku during the Cavalry Battle, knowing that people would pay attention to him, since he finished first in the previous competition. She also spent the entirety of her match against Tenya (a full 10 minutes) demonstrating and explaining her inventions to the crowd. Quirk Zoom (ズーム, Zūmu?): Mei's Quirk allows her to make her vision zoom in on whatever is in her line of sight. If she really focuses, Mei can see things as far as five kilometers.[9] Stats Power 1/5 E Speed 1/5 E Technique 3/5 C Cooperativeness 2/5 D Mei's stats, according to the Ultra Archive Book Power 1/6 E Speed 1/6 E Technique 4/6 B Wits 5/6 A Inventive Urge 6/6 S+ Mei's stats, according to the Ultra Analysis Book Equipment Goggles: A pair of steampunk-looking goggles. It is unknown if they have any practical applications aside from those of regular goggles. Hydraulic Bracers: A support item that detects an incoming enemy and extends a telescopic metal pole to push the wearer out of the way. Capture Gun: A pistol that fires capture nets. It can be shot five times before one needs to reload it. Electromagnetic Soles: A pair of boots that improve the wearer's footwork. Wire Arrow (ワイヤーアロー, Waiyā Arou?): This device is a combination of a wire with an arrow-like grappling hook attached to the end, which can be used to reach distant surfaces.[10] Hover Soles (ホバーソール, Hobā Sōru?): Two big metallic boots that have turbines implanted inside them, which allows the wearer to hover above the ground.[10] Inventions Mei and her inventions. Mei is a prolific inventor, who is always creating new mechanisms that can be used by others. Many of her inventions simply don't work properly or are even dangerous, but others are really useful support items. Air Force Gloves: Special gloves that Mei created specifically for Izuku, which allow him to more efficiently create powerful air blasts with One For All while limiting the damage done. Auto Balancers: A support item that takes the form of leg braces and a backpack. The function of this device is to prevent the wearer from falling, unless they intend to. Used by Tenya during their battle at the U.A. Sports Festival. High Density Weights (超圧縮おもい, Chō Asshuku Omoi?): A creation of Mei's, this device inhibits and drains speed and stamina of a user. This allows the user to fight on the same level as a weaker, less experienced opponent. Used by teachers during the First Term Final Exam to give students an advantage.[11] Iron Soles (アイアンソール, Aiansōru?): Support items she invented for Izuku. They serve both to enhance his kicks and to deal with the recoil, lessening the force that rebounds on him. Jet Pack: A creation of Mei's, this device is a metal backpack with two turbines on the bottom part of the backpack that will activate when the wearer presses the activation switch. Used by Izuku during the Cavalry Battle.[6] Sharpshooting Gear: Support items she created with Power Loader for Denki Kaminari. Allows Denki to use his electricity more efficiently without endangering his allies. Power Suit: A mechanical suit that senses muscle contraction and aids in movement. Mei's forty-ninth invention.[8] Electric Booster: A speed booster that generates minimum heat. Mei's thirty-sixth invention.[8] Mei's thirty-sixth invention.[8] My Adorable Baby: A robot suit with iron soles. Unintentionally explosive. Mei's two hundred second invention. Battles & Events Chapter Appearances Anime Appearances Trivia Mei's name comes "invention" (発明, hatsumei?) and "eyes" (目, me?), but the second and third kanji have switched positions. Mei was originally going to be a male.[12] In the first Popularity Poll, Mei ranked twentieth, which ties her with Toru Hagakure. Mei's favorite food is chocolate. Mei likes the steampunk style, as evidenced by her usual gadgetry. Mei ranked in the top sixteen of the U.A. Sports Festival First-Year Stage. Mei's Power Suit could be a reference to the prototype battle suit developed by Justin Hammer, shown near the beginning of the movie Iron Man 2. This suit accidentally twisted the torso section through one hundred eighty degrees, possibly killing the test pilot (although Hammer claims he was injured but recovered). Luckily for Izuku, Mei disabled her suit before it twisted too far. Mei's Japanese voice actress, Shiori Sakurai, also voices Moko Tamashi. Quotes (To Power Loader) "Heh heh heh... Failure is the mother of invention. Power Loader-sensei. Thomas Edison once said that. Just cuz a creation doesn't work as intended doesn't mean the effort is wasted..."[13] (To Tenya about using his arms instead of his legs) "If you want to cool your legs, all you have to do is just run with your arms!"[14] References Mei Hatsume was once one of the most popular characters from the My Hero Academia series. This support hero is a very important stepping stone in the series and helps represent another type of potential hero that attends U.A. Academy. While she may not have too much bearing on the story anymore, Mei is still a well-loved character that could use a bit more spotlight. This list will be focusing on the things many may not know and others may have missed about the brilliant mutant, Mei Hatsume. 10 SHE LIKES STEAMPUNK One thing that many fans of the My Hero Academia series may notice is that the mangaka behind the series, Kohei Horikoshi, pays a lot of attention to the style of clothing on his characters. Mei Hatsume is one character who has a heavy emphasis placed on her style. The accessories that Mei wears (such as her goggles) and her other gadgets show that she is a big fan of the steampunk style. My Hero Academia loves to reference other anime, manga, comic books, music, and movies. This is seen in one moment featuring Mei Hatsume and her Power Suit that she had Midoriya in for a scene. This Power Suit was a direct reference to a prototype battle suit that was created by Justin Hammer in Iron Man 2 that twisted the torso section 180 degrees and probably killed the test pilot. The same happened to Izuku but thankfully Mei cut off the robot before he got hurt. Mei Hatsume wasn't always supposed to be Mei Hatsume. According to Kohei, this support based hero was originally planned to be a guy. This was stated in chapter 35 of the manga as part of the notes section. "At first, she was going to be a guy, but then I thought it'd be more interesting if I made her a girl. I did the gender swap thing a lot, didn't I?" While she may have been fairly popular back when she was first introduced, Mei actually wasn't too popular when it came to the first popularity poll for the series. This first poll opened in chapter 52 of the manga and was then reported in chapter 52. In this first character poll, Mei placed lower than a recently introduced Tsuruma, Mineta, and even creator Kohei Horikoshi himself. The support hero tied with Toru Hagakure in 20th place. While Mei is said to have created more inventions than most can count during her time at U.A. Academy, she has only shown off 12 of her inventions during her time in the series. These inventions include Mei's always worn goggles, hydraulic bracers, her net firing capture gun, electromagnetic soles, a wire arrow, hover soles, auto bracers, her jet pack, high-density weights, the power suit, an electric booster, and her robot suit called "My Adorable Baby." Fun fact, "My Adorable Baby" is Mei's 202nd invention. In the My Hero Academia: Ultra Archive and My Hero Academia: Ultra Analysis books, it is shown that Mei actually is nowhere near being a well-rounded student of U.A. Academy. Most of Mei's stats are actually fairly low, as she fares pretty poorly in everything except intelligence, technique, and of course, motivation for inventions. While Mei is said to be simply a support hero and is probably just at U.A. to get a career in inventing going, she actually has more skill than most realize. This was seen during U.A. School Festival arc when she actually was matched up in combat. During her fight against Iida, Mei actually was able to drag the battle out for ten minutes. Despite his quirk, Iida wasn't able to do anything until she forfeited. Not only does Mei make a reference to Iron Man but she could very well be the equivalent of Tony Stark when it comes to the My Hero Academia series. Mei has a lot of similarities to the Iron Man creator. Not only is she an amazing inventor with a knack for creating power suits but she is a businesswoman who is mostly in the hero business for money. Many forget that Mei even has a quirk. Her quirk is called Zoom and it gives her amazing eyesight that can zoom very far away. This allows her to clearly see distant targets no matter where or what they are. However, these targets are usually people of interest such as potential business investors. This quirk hasn't been used for any real heroics so far. One ongoing gag of the My Hero Academia series, as well as a popular trope in many other Japanese series, is using puns when naming characters. This is a trope that continues with Mei Hatsume. Mei's name comes from the kanji for the word "invention" and the kanji for the word "eyes." However, the second and third kanji in her name are swapped in positions. This a direct reference to her role as an inventor and her quirk which uses her eyes. NEXT: My Hero Academia: 5 Reasons Why You Should Watch The Anime (& 5 Reasons To Just Read The Manga Instead)