He got asked what he thought on the subject and replied with a message saying that the emblem of peace was the fleur-de-lis, a lily with three leaves.B-P chose the fleur-de-lis because of its use on maps, charts, and compasses to show direction. Scouts who have life directions pointing towards the top are more likely to succeed. The fleur-de-lis symbol is simple but has many meanings. In his book Lessons From the Varsity of Life, Baden-Powell explained the meaning behind it.The fleur-de-lis points forward and not left or right, as going in those directions would be backward.
