

I'm not robot

Drew Pritchard, a renowned antique dealer from the United Kingdom, has gained significant popularity through his appearance on the show Salvage Hunters, which has been airing for 19 seasons. The program showcases his travels across the UK as he collects, rescues, and restores rare items. Pritchard's passion for collecting and restoring antiques developed at a young age, influenced by his family's involvement in restorations. His father restored motorbikes and cars, and Pritchard would often collect items from river banks, old bikes, and car parts, which he would then buy and sell. Born on June 24, 1970, in Conwy, Clwyd, Wales, Pritchard is 54 years old as of 2024. He was raised in North Wales' housing estates, where his father worked as a self-employed sign writer, creating signs for local antique shops. The high-end vehicles owned by dealers who came to collect the signs sparked Pritchard's curiosity and interest in his father's business. Pritchard's career in antiques began when he became a stained-glass restorer apprentice after completing school. At 15, he enrolled in a Youth Training Scheme, where he trained as a stained-glass window restorer and conservator. He later established DP Classics, his first fully-fledged business, in 1987, with the help of his partner, Clive Holland. The company buys and restores cars and motorcycles, which are then sold on the DP Classics website. In addition to his antique dealings, Pritchard has also ventured into show business, appearing on Salvage Hunters. He has also opened his own antique shop in Conwy, which he later sold and moved to Gloucestershire. Pritchard's antiques can be found at his shops and house, and he continues to hunt for historical items to add to his collection. With a successful career spanning over three decades, Pritchard has become a well-known figure in the antique industry. Drew Pritchard, star of Salvage Hunters reality show, once owned rare items like Henry Moore maquette and sold them to raise funds for charity. He has kept a low profile, but it's known she's also an antiques seller and property developer. She's been busy with her career and business. Drew Pritchard is now married after his divorce. The reality TV star was spotted with someone new. It's confirmed that he remarried, but details about his wife are unknown. They met through mutual friends at a social gathering. He has two children from his previous marriage to Rebecca - Tom and Grace. After closing his antiques shop in 2022 and getting divorced, Drew found love again and continues working on Salvage Hunters. Drew Pritchard is 5'9" tall, weighs around 192 pounds, and has hazel eyes with a silver beard. He's an animal lover who values family time and enjoys diverse perspectives on antiques. He avoids posting personal photos online and dislikes red cars. Drew's expertise in finding hidden treasures and restoring them to their former glory is renowned, thanks to his extensive experience in the field. Given text : paraphrase is Drew Pritchard sources his furniture from across the UK, collecting pieces from various locations and individuals. He then teams up with a group of skilled renovators to breathe new life into these items, which are later sold in his warehouse. Viewers of his TV show can see him transform discarded objects into stylish treasures. The Welsh-born restorer has an extensive background, having started restoring furniture at the tender age of 15 and going on to reclaim everything from vintage cars to antique horse-drawn carriages. Pritchard recently put his family home up for sale after living in a restored chapel near Eglwysbach in Conwy Valley for two decades. The five-bedroom, three-bathroom property boasts an array of unique features, including a luxurious cabin previously owned by Rolling Stones frontman Mick Jagger. Priced at £795,000, the house sits on three stables, 13 acres of land, and an event bungalow. A tranquil lake in its grounds is home to Moorhens and Canadian Geese. Drew Pritchard Facts: * Full Name: Andrew Thomas Pritchard * Age as of 2024: 54 years old * Date of Birth: 1970 * Place of Birth: Conwy, Wales * Nationality: Welsh/English * Wife: Rebecca Pritchard (divorced in 2017) * Height: 5'9" (1.8 m) * Net Worth: $8 million

Drew pritchard net worth 2024. Drew pritchard net worth 2022. Drew pritchard net worth. What's drew pritchard net worth. Drew pritchard worth. How much money does drew pritchard have. Drew pritchard worth 2022. Drew pritchard car. Drew pritchard amsterdam.