In todays drawing, you will find a scene with a small tropical island, a surfboard standing in the sand, and a tree with fronds spread wide, all under a bright sun. Ocean waves surround the island, enhancing the relaxing summer beach atmosphere. If you are interested in drawing a scenario from summer in a simple step, then this guide is for you. Follow us to the end for a perfect sketch. Drawing Paper Colors of Your Choices Pencil Eraser Sharpener Marker Pen Todays tutorial provides a simple guide for drawing a summer vibe. Here is a short preview of todays drawing tutorial. By the end of the tutorial, you'll have a well-sketches summer scene and will have a better understanding of drawing techniques. Follow the steps below. First, sketch two lines from left and right at a certain distance, then connect them with a curved line to represent the base of the island as given in the image. Then, sketch a long, vertical shape, pointing upward lines for a surfboard. Make sure the top of the board is slightly pointed, while the button should be inside the base. In the middle of the surfboard, draw a straight line for detail. As shown in the image, draw some lines near the surfboard for the details, making it look like it is inside the sand. Then, add some dots and a short line representing sand and grass. Now, from the side of the board, draw a curved line facing upward for the trunk of the tree we often see on the island. To add details, sketch some lines inside of it. At the top of the trunk, draw several curved lines extending outward to represent the central stems of the fronds, as shown in the picture above. On each of the fronds, sketch the leaves, the short and the curved ones, on each side. These lines should start narrow at the stem and widen as they extend outward. Following the same steps above, add more leaves on the left side. While adding it carefully, draw a circle inside of it to represent the coconut on the tree. You can take reference from the picture we have created. Sketch the simple circle above the tree to represent the sun. Ensure it is placed in the right position to complete the scene. Draw a few wavy lines from the islands backside to indicate the ocean. These lines should be horizontal and give the impression of water. Make sure your drawing is perfect, as this will complete our drawing process. If you are interested in adding a touch of color, follow the guide below. Lets enjoy coloring as well. Coloring the sketch will clearly change its look and make it perfect. We have used some basic colors to give it a clear look. First, we began the process by using blue for the background. Also, you can see some waves that have been colored white. Then, we used a darker shade of blue for the waves of the water than the background. Red has been used on the surfboard, and yellow has been used in the sun. We have used cream color for the sand, as you can see in the picture. Again, we have used brown for the trunk, and a darker shade of brown for drawing. You're just a few steps away from creating your own Summer paradise!Summer means different things to each person, but everyone has an idea of spending Summer by the beach while having a lot of fun. Its a time to relax a bit and enjoy the great outdoors!Its not always possible to live out that idyllic idea of a Summer day, but you can at least create it with your drawing skills. This guide will take you through the process of making a stunning Summer scene.There are so many incredible details, and you could spend even more of them if you wanted to! So lets begin and work through this guide together. You may be surprised by what you have created at the end!Watch And See How To Make Your Summer Drawing! How to Draw Summer Lets Get Started!Step 1In this scene that we will be creating for this picture, we will show a cartoon boy and girl having a great time out at the beach.In this first step of the guide, we will begin drawing these characters. They are drawn in a simple cartoon style, but that doesnt mean you can plan it out a bit before drawing. You could do this by drawing some simple stick figures that are posed similarly to the characters.Bear in mind that the lower halves of their bodies will be hidden behind a sand dune.Once you have these stick figures drawn (if you decide to do that step, that is) then we can start drawing the characters. The boy is on the left, and he is wearing a vest.His hands are extended up as if he is leaping into the air, and he has a simple short hairstyle. We wont be drawing details such as his face for now.Then we will draw the little girl, who looks to be a bit younger than the boy is. Her arms are also raised, but not as high as the boys arms.She has a simple hairstyle as well, and a short, thin ponytail trails behind her head.As with the boy, there wont be any fine details such as her face, but dont worry if you think that looks weird, as we will attend to these details in the next step.Step 2: Draw the finer details of the charactersAs mentioned in the previous step, these characters look a bit odd without faces or any details, so lets fix that right now and add some more character to this drawing of Summer. When it comes to facial details, there are many ways to go about drawing them, especially when youre drawing in a cartoon style.In our reference image, we went for a simple approach to the facial details. We used dots for the eyes and simple little lines for details such as their noses and mouths. You could go for a more detailed style for their faces if you prefer.Or, you could make it even simpler and simplify the details even further. Its up to you! However you draw the faces, we have a few more details to add before we move on to the next step.The next detail to add will be some horizontal stripes on the boys shirt. Then, even though we wont see most of their legs, we will add what we will see in this step.Before you draw the legs, we will draw a slightly curved, wavy line underneath the characters to show the top of the sand dune that is obscuring them. Then, we can draw their legs to finish off the characters for now. Before you move on, you can also add any additional details that you would like for the drawing, such as other details on their clothes.Then we can move on to step 3 to keep adding details.Step 3: Add the sun and a palm treeFew things say Summer like bright sunshine and a palm tree. Palm trees make any setting immediately more exotic, so we will definitely be adding one to the drawing.First, we will draw a simple circle above the characters heads to create a ball that they are playing with. Then, we will draw the sun above them.This is no ordinary sun, however, as it is a character that is joining in the fun! The central portion of the sun is a simple rounded shape.Then, we will use some simple curved lines to create some closed eyes and a big smiling mouth for the sun. Finish it off with some pointy lines around the central circle to show the rays of the sun.Next, we will extend that curved line we drew beneath the characters a bit further both to the left and the right.You can make it a bit wavier if you want, or you could make it look exactly as it does in our example.Then we will add a palm tree to the left side of this sand dune to make this scene look like more of a vacation getaway. The palm tree trunk has various squared sections stacked on top of one another. There are some round coconuts growing at the top of the trunk, and then we will add some palm leaves. The leaves are big and drawn with lots of thin, curved sections on the outline.Add some line details to the leaves and the trunk of the palm tree. The final detail is to draw some small tufts of grass at the base of the tree, and then were on to step 4!Step 4: Now draw the ocean in the background!Were aiming to create a real vacation getaway in this guide on how to draw Summer. For that, it wouldnt be complete if we didnt add the ocean to the scene, and that is exactly what we will do!The details we are adding in this fourth step are fairly simple, but they will help add to the drawing in a big way. First, we will draw a horizontal line across the back of the scene. This line should be drawn freehand, as we want a slight waviness to it. You can then add some more of these wavy lines underneath the horizon line, and its okay if the placement of these lines looks a bit random.The reason for that is that we want it to look like some gentle waves on the ocean. You could make them more pronounced if you would like the ocean to look a bit wilder.Once you're happy with how the water of the ocean is looking, we can then add some more background details before moving on. First, we will draw some land in the distance. This section will go on the left-hand side of the drawing, and it will be drawn with a curved line to make it look hilly.On the right-hand side, we will draw a big puffy cloud looming over the ocean to finish off this scene. Then, we will be ready for step 5 where we will add a whole bunch of awesome details to the scene!Step 5: Draw some details to finish off the sceneWhen you look at our reference image for this step of this Summer drawing, you will see a ton of awesome details that really bring the scene to life!In this step, we wanted to show off some details that you can add, but this is also a step where you can add some of your own detail ideas as well.First of all, we added a lot more clouds to the sky around the sun to make the scene even more idyllic.Then, we added some details to the foreground that help to finish off that beach vacation feeling.We added some simple details such as small rocks and stones, but then we also added a bucket and spade on the left side.On the right side, we added a crab going about its day to add some more life to the scene.To finish off, we added a lot of small line details to the ground to make it look more textured and detailed. These details may be small, but they make a big difference!Now that we have covered the details we chose for this drawing, you can add some of your own as well. This is your chance to show off what your dream beach trip would look like.You could do this by adding beach toys or maybe some wildlife you would expect to see at the beach.If you wanted, you could also add more characters, perhaps representing your friends and family.These are just a few ideas, but there are so many ways to take this drawing to the next level with your own details! How would you like to finish off this drawing to make it the perfect Summer scene?Step 6: Now, finish off with some color for this Summer day!Now were ready to finish off this guide with some bright and cheerful color fun!In our reference image, we show you how we would choose to color this scene, and you can use these colors for your own image if you like them. We went for a beautifully bright color scheme that mixes cooler colors like blue and green with spots of warm colors for the sun and the crab. You can also incorporate any other colors you would like!Then, theres the matter of which art tools and mediums you use to achieve your color choices.You could use watercolor paint or colored pencils to make the colors nice and mild for a more nostalgic feel.If you want to keep the colors bright and vibrant, then colored pens and markers would make the colors pop on the page. You could also mix these different mediums to bring out the color intensities. There are really no wrong ways to go about it, and you can have a lot of fun getting creative with it! We definitely encourage you to have fun with it as you bring some color to this cheerful scene.Which colors, art mediums and techniques will you use for this Summer scene?Your Summer Drawing is Complete!Throughout the 6 steps of this guide on how to draw Summer, we brought some bright and cheery vacation fun to wherever you may be!We hope that you enjoyed recreating this wonderful day at the beach. This guide has a lot of great details for you to use, but you can also keep the fun going with your own details, ideas and color choices. There are so many ways for you to put your own unique spin on the design. Whatever you end up choosing to draw and color, we know it will look amazing and unique! Grab Your Art SuppliesBefore we dive into our summer drawing journey, let's start with the basics - gathering your art supplies. Don't fret, you won't need any fancy equipment for these easy summer drawings. Here's what you need:Pencils: A simple #2 pencil is perfect for sketching out your initial design.Erasers: Mistakes happen, and that's where erasers come in handy. They're your best friend in the art world.Colored pencils, markers, or watercolor paints: These will bring your summer drawings to life. Feel free to choose based on what you're comfortable with.Sketchpad: Any paper will do, but a sketchpad is ideal as it's designed for drawing.Sharpener: Keep those pencils sharp! It makes a world of difference. Now that you've got your art supplies ready, let's move on to the real fun partcreating your own easy summer drawings!2. Draw a SunflowerStarting off our easy summer drawings list is a classicthe sunflower. This bright, cheerful flower is synonymous with summer, and it's surprisingly simple to draw. Just follow these steps:Start with the center: Draw a small circle for the center of the sunflower. This is where those delicious sunflower seeds come from.Add the petals: Now, draw long, oval-shaped petals all around the circle. Don't worry about making them perfectnature is beautifully imperfect, after all.Sketch the stem and leaves: Draw a long line coming down from the flower for the stem. Add some large, heart-shaped leaves on either side of the stem.Color it in: Fill in your sketch with vibrant yellows and greens, and a dark brown or black for the center. Sunflowers can be other colors too, so feel free to get creative!And there you have it! You've just created your first easy summer drawing. Not too hard, was it? Up next, we'll be heading to the beach for our next drawing.3. Create a Beach SceneThere's nothing that screams summer more than a day at the beach. So, let's take our pencils and paper there with a simple beach scene for our next easy summer drawing. Heeres how:Start with the horizon: Draw a straight line across your paper. This will separate the sky from the sea.Add the sea: Below the horizon line, draw some wavy lines to represent the sea. Remember, the sea is never completely calm, so make your lines a bit irregular.Sketch the sand: At the bottom of your paper, draw a semicircular shape to represent the sandy beach. You can add some small dots for texture.Draw a sun in the sky: In the sky, sketch a small circle for the sun. If you want to get a little fancier, you can even add some sun rays.Include a palm tree: On one side of your beach, draw a tall, curved line for the tree trunk, and some spiky lines at the top for the palm leaves.Color your drawing: Use light blues for the sky and ocean, yellow for the sand and sun, and green for the palm tree.Voila! You've just drawn a beach scene. It's amazing how a few simple lines and shapes can transport you to a sunny beach, right? Next, we'll explore the beauty of a summer sunset.4. Sketch a Summer SunsetAh, the summer sunset! Its vibrant hues and the serene feeling it imparts are nothing short of magical. How about we capture that in our next easy summer drawing? Let's dive right in.Begin with the sun: At the center of your page, sketch a partially visible circle. This will be the sun setting at the horizon.Create the horizon line: Draw a horizontal line across your page, cutting your sun in half.Add water: Below the horizon line, draw some soft, wavy lines to signify the ocean. Feel free to add some small wave crests for added detail.Sketch the sky: In the upper half of your page, you can add some wispy cloud shapes. Remember, not all clouds are alike! Mix it up with different sizes and shapes.Color in your sunset: Use warm colors like orange, pink, and yellow for the sky. The sun can be a bright, cheery yellow, and the sea a darker shade of blue.And there you have it! A beautiful summer sunset you can gaze at any time, right on your paper. Isn't it surprising how easy it was to create this charming scene? But don't put your art supplies away just yetwe've got a juicy watermelon slice up next in our series of easy summer drawings.5. Illustrate a Watermelon SliceNothing screams summer quite like a juicy watermelon slice. It's a simple yet vibrant subject for our next easy summer drawing. So, let's get started.Sketch your slice: Start by drawing a triangle for the slice of watermelon. It should look like a piece of pie.Add the rind: At the base of your triangle, draw a thinner, smaller triangle. This will be the watermelon's rind.Draw the seeds: Now, draw small ovals scattered throughout the larger triangle. Remember, they don't have to be perfectly shaped or evenly spaced.Color in your slice: Use a bright green for the rind and a vibrant red or pink for the inner part of the watermelon. The seeds can be colored in with a deep black or dark brown.Congratulations, you've just created a mouthwatering watermelon slice! Make sure how easy summer drawings can be? But don't stop here. There's a tropical scene awaiting in our next step: bringing a palm tree to life. Ready to venture into the tropics?6. Bring a Palm Tree to LifeTime to transport ourselves to a tropical paradise with our next easy summer drawing: a palm tree. Palm trees are synonymous with warm summer breezes and sandy beaches, making them an ideal subject. So, let's get started and breathe some life into our palm tree!Draw the trunk: Start by drawing a long, slightly curved line for the trunk. Remember, trees aren't perfectly straight; adding a bit of curve will give your drawing a more natural look.Add the fronds: At the top of the trunk, draw several curved lines extending outwardsthes are your palm fronds. They should look a bit like fireworks shooting out from the top of the trunk.Detail the fronds: Now, add smaller lines along the length of each frond to represent the individual leaves. You've just turned those fireworks into palm fronds!Color your tree: Use a brown shade for the trunk and a vibrant green for the fronds. Now, your palm tree is bursting with life!And there you have itan easy summer drawing of a lively palm tree. You're now one step closer to becoming a summer drawing expert! But don't rest under your palm tree just yet. The next step in our journey takes us to the mesmerizing world of summer cloudscapes. Excited? Let's keep going!7. Paint a Summer CloudscapeWho hasn't gotten lost in the beauty of a summer sky, full of fluffy, dream-like clouds? Well, it's time to bring that beauty to paper. Painting a summer cloudscape is not only a fun challenge but also an exciting way to improve your skills. So let's dive right into it!Start with the sky: Begin by drawing a horizontal line across your pagethis will be the base of your sky. Next, choose a calm blue shade to color it. Not too dark nor too light, just the right summer sky blue.Sketch the clouds: Now, for the fun partdrawing clouds. Start by sketching out some fluffy shapes. Remember, clouds aren't perfect; they're whimsical and free. So let your hand roam freely as you draw!Add depth: Add some depth to your clouds by drawing smaller cloud shapes within the larger ones. This will give your clouds a 3D look, making them appear fluffy and real.Color the clouds: Now, choose a white color to fill in your clouds. But don't color them completely. Leave some parts uncolored to create a shadow and realism to your clouds.Voila! You've just painted a gorgeous summer cloudscape. Now, your collection of easy summer drawings has a sky full of dreams. But don't put your art supplies away yet. There are still a few more exciting sketches to explore. Ready to keep going?8. Craft a Cool Ice Cream ConeNothing screams summer quite like a delicious ice cream cone in your hand. It's a symbol of sunny days, fun times, and sweet memories, making it a perfect addition to your collection of easy summer drawings. So, let's bring this sweet treat to life on your sketch pad.Start with the cone: Begin at the bottom by drawing a triangle for the cone. Add some diagonal lines inside the triangle to give it a waffle-like texture.Add the ice cream: Now it's time for the ice cream! Draw a semi-circle on top of the triangle. Don't worry about making it too perfect; real ice cream scoops are rarely perfect circles.Make it tasty: Let's add some flavour to your ice cream. Fill in the semi-circle with the color of your favourite ice cream flavorbe it creamy vanilla, rich chocolate, or tangy strawberry.Add the cherry on top: For a final touch, draw a small circle on top of your scoop. Fill it in with a bright red color to represent a cherry. This will add a pop of color to your ice cream cone, making it look even more delicious.And there you have itan ice cream cone that looks good enough to eat! But remember, it's a drawing, so resist the temptation. Instead, let's add it to the collection of your easy summer drawings and move on to the next.9. Design a Summer Campfire SceneImagine this: It's a cool summer night, you're surrounded by friends, the stars are twinkling above, and there's a warm campfire crackling in front of you. Sounds wonderful, doesn't it? Now let's translate that feeling into an easy summer drawing.Sketch the fire pit: Start by drawing a circle for the fire pit. Then, inside the circle, draw a few irregular shapessthes will be the logs for our fire.Add the flames: Now, let's set the logs on fire! Draw some wavy lines above the logs to represent the flames. Make sure to use a mix of red, orange, and yellow colors to make the fire look realistic.Draw the campers: What's a campfire without some campers? Draw a few simple stick figures sitting around the fire. If you're feeling adventurous, you could even add a guitar or some marshmallows on sticks!Finish with the surroundings: Finally, let's set the scene. Draw a few tree outlines in the background, add some grass around the fire pit, and don't forget the stars in the sky.And voila! You've just created a cozy summer campfire scene. It's yet another masterpiece to add to your growing portfolio of easy summer drawings. Keep up the good workyou're doing amazing!10. Finish with a Fun Surfboard SceneNothing screams summer more than a day at the beach, catching some waves. So, why not finish off our easy summer drawings session with a vibrant surfboard design? Let's dive right in!un intended!Draw the surfboard: Start by sketching a long, narrow oval shape. This will be the body of your surfboard. Make sure it's symmetrical and smooth, just like a real surfboard.Add the fins: Next, let's add some fins at the bottom of the surfboard. These are typically triangular in shape, but feel free to get creative. After all, it's your surfboard!Design the artwork: Now, here's where you can really let your imagination run wild. Design the artwork on your surfboard. It could be anything from a simple stripe pattern to a more intricate tropical design. Maybe even a sunflower from our earlier drawing?Color it in: Finally, bring your design to life with some vibrant colors. Remember, this is a summer surfboard, so think bright, sunny colors that reflect the joy and excitement of summer.And there you have it, a fun and colorful surfboard design to wrap up our collection of easy summer drawings.
